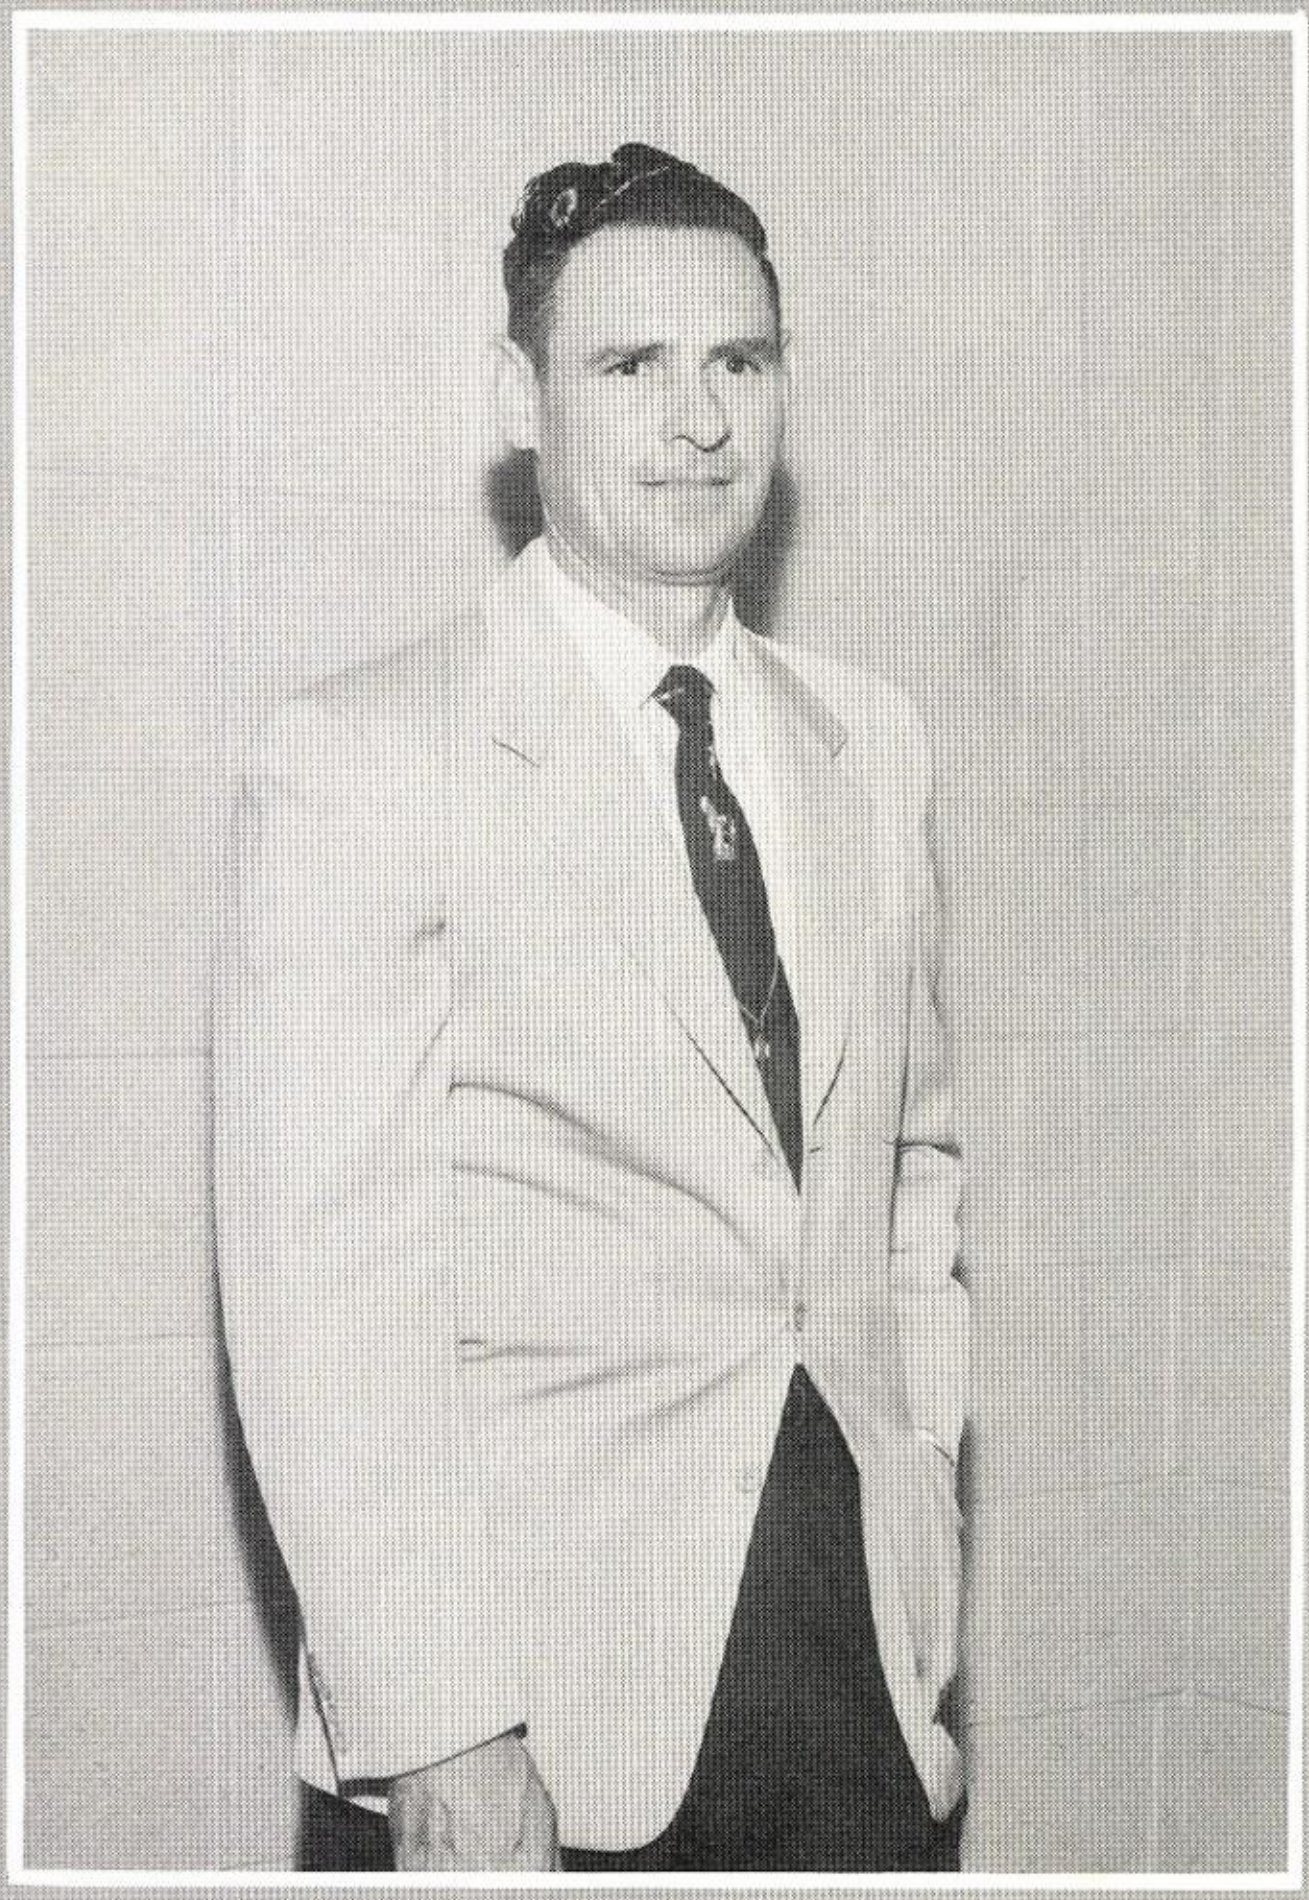
THROCKMORTON HIGH SCHOOL
THROCKMORTON, TEXAS

DEDICATION

On behalf of the students and faculty of Throckmorton High School the Annual Staff dedicates this 1957 Greyhound to

MR. DELTON STILLEY
High School Principal

Mr. Stilley's every action in the 1956-57 school year has been to work for the improvement of our school and to promote better relationships between students and teachers. He has been a friend to all as well as principal and counselor. Because of his interest and help, the students have found school not only more enjoyable, but also much more rewarding. Speaking for the entire high school, the Annual Staff says, "Thanks for everything, Mr. Stilley."



ACTIVITIES

SEPTEMBER

4 Registration

11 First PTA meeting

12 "Fish" initiation

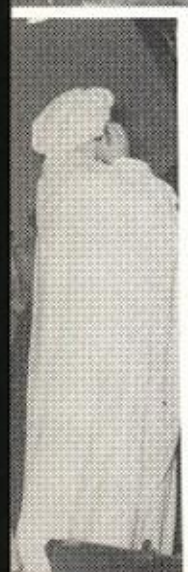
Mr. Stilley, high school principal, registers two new pupils, Bruce Hanna and Martha Hon, in his office.

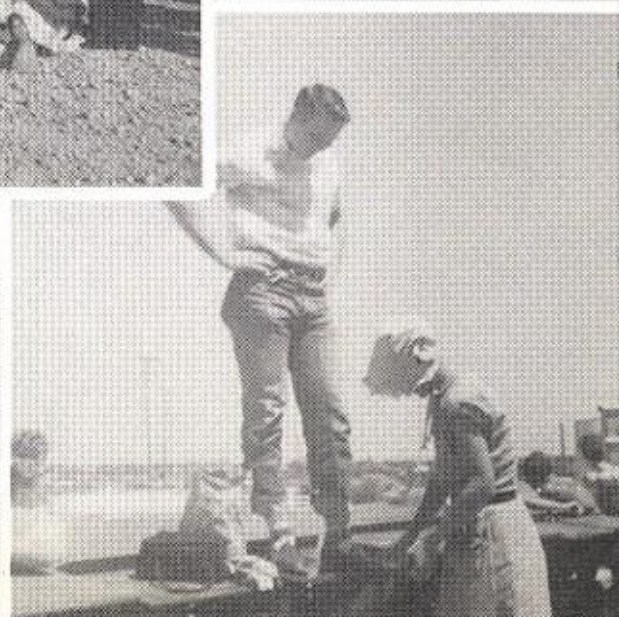
On September 12, the Senior and Freshman classes participated in the annual initiation.

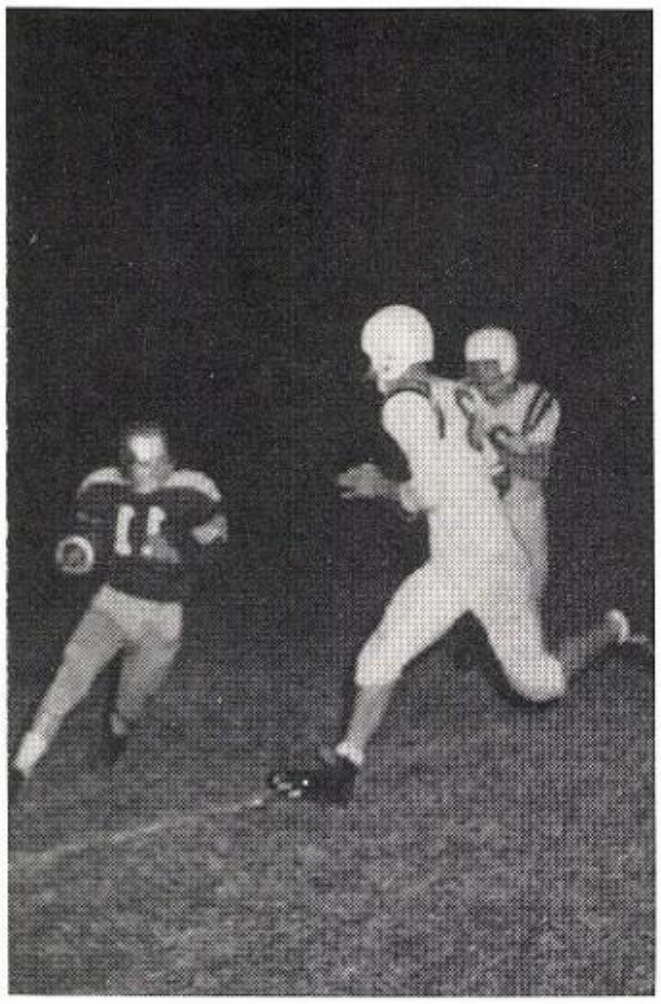
The Freshman boys were required to wear dresses, carry bottles of ice water, and bring shoe polish kits to polish the Senior boy's shoes. The Freshman girls were required to wear six different costumes all at the same time and remove one each period.

During dinner period activities took place on the football field. This consisted of races, air-raid drills, and singing songs. The girls had to carry raw eggs. One was dropped on the sidewalk and had to be picked up by its carrier.

All in all everyone, including the "Fish," had a very enjoyable time.







The third annual Throckmorton High School Homecoming was one of the highlights of the month of October. The festivities included a football game with Holiday on the fifth at which Lavonne Glenn was crowned Homecoming Queen. Her attendants were Mary Sue Bellah and Wanda Edsall. On the sixth of October, Saturday, there was a parade and a business meeting. There the exes decided to have the next homecoming in 1958. The celebration came to a climax with a barbeque that night.

Mrs. Stanton D. Liles, Sr., Aubrey Condron, and Mrs. W. E. Routh represented the graduating class of 1913.

Marley Cribbs does some fancy running in the game on Friday, October 5, against Holiday.

Mr. Walter Merriman, President of the Ex-Students Association, presents Mrs. George Wright, the oldest graduate of Throckmorton High (1894) with a corsage of white carnations.

At the right, three freshmen: Barbara Bird, Donald Hudson, and Barbara Barrington, display the fine art of the Freshman Class, disguised as Indians.

The Choral Club, directed by Hubert Carson and accompanied by Mrs. Talmage Falls, present an interesting program for the ex-students of T. H. S. on homecoming day, singing "Ramona" and "My Prayer," featuring Doniece Johnson as the soloist and a sextet singing "Canadian Sunset."

Businessmen contributed food and decorations; the boys' mothers prepared the food.

20 Senior Play

The FHA presented a Christmas assembly program complete with Santa Claus. During the program Brenda Jennings, FHA president, presented Douglas Boland as FHA Romeo.

Sue Beach was crowned Band Sweetheart by Joe Ed Thompson, Band Captain, at the last football game.

Can you imagine Jim Hudson marrying Lavonne Glenn and Marley Cribbs? Michael Merriman and Wanda Edsall in love? Mary Sue Bellah "flipped" over Bobby Bronson? or Joe Ed Thompson and Palma Collins exchanging playful shoves? None of it sounds possible . . . but it all happened in the Senior play.

The Junior Class presented "Teen Time" which illustrated the messes teen-agers get into when adults try to keep them out of trouble. Highlights of the play included: the male quartet which really sang (so they said). Brenda Meadows' being stern and old-fashioned, and every one disliking (of all people) Sue Beach.

In a special assembly program, the FHA presented eight rose bushes to the school. Brenda Jennings, chapter president, presided.

Entertainment was furnished by a quartet composed of FHA members.

At left, Linda McWhorter and Michael Merriman display the trophies the music department won at the Interscholastic League Contest. Both the Band and Chorus were awarded "Sweepstakes."

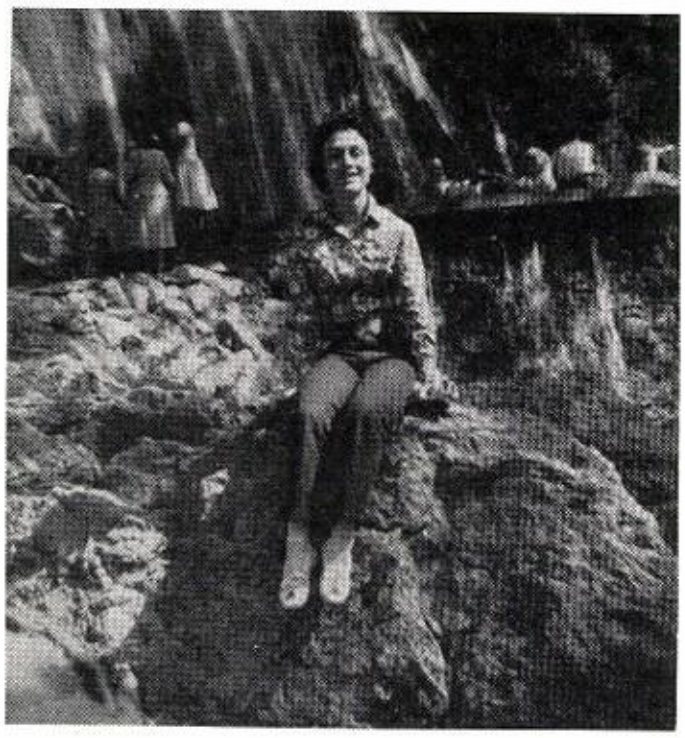
23 Commencement

The Senior Class left Throckmorton at 2:45 on May 2nd for Monterrey. After traveling all night the class reached their destination and set out on a tour of the city. After lunch the students and their sponsors went to Horsetail Falls. The next morning the class boarded a bus and went to the city of Satillo, once the capital of Texas. The trip gave the seniors a view of Mexican rural life, the Sierra Madre Mountains, and the city itself including one of the oldest cathedrals in Mexico. The next day the class went to the market in Monterrey and then to the bullfight. That night they boarded the bus and arrived in Throckmorton the next afternoon.

These seniors pose at the doorway of a cafe on the way to Monterrey.

As Cora Lynn practices her Spanish the seniors in the background have their shoes polished in front of the Hotel Monterrey.

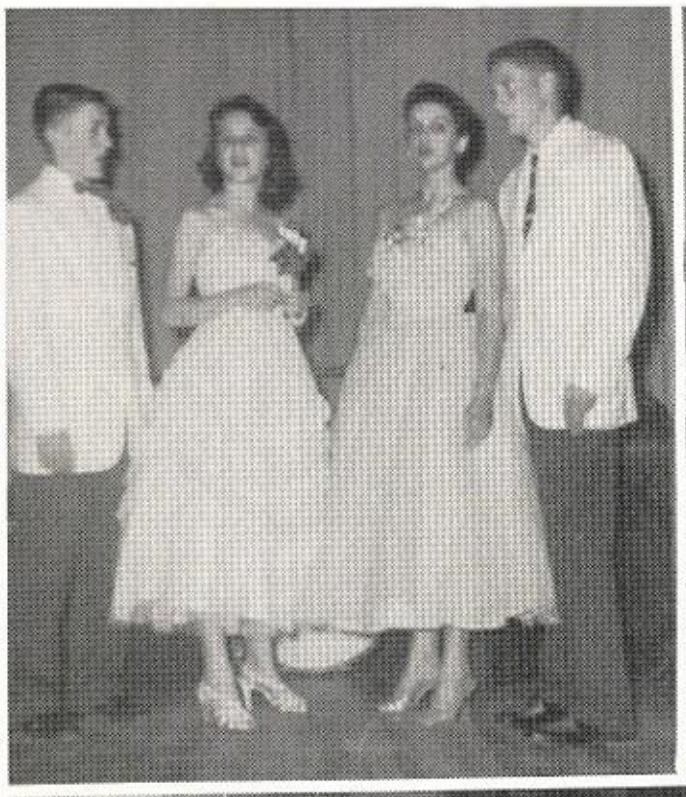
Wanda Edsall smiles at the "birdie" with Horsetail Falls for a background.



After riding up to the falls on burros, the seniors sat and rested before starting back down.

These two senoritas along with their boy friends helped the class become acquainted with Mexican customs.

One of those daredevil drivers is joined by his shaken but enthusiastic passengers on the tour of the city of Monterrey.



Members of the Junior Class entertain their guests at the "Old South" Banquet and Prom . . . Senator Broadacres (Toastmaster Bob Neely) parts with a few words of wisdom . . . The banjo place favors served as instruments for some impromptu entertainment.

Future Homemakers honor their FHA Romeo at their spring banquet.

Members of the eighth grade furnish entertainment.

Smiling graduates receive their long-hoped-for diplomas.

Each homeroom presents one or two programs each year.

HALLOWE'EN CARNIVAL

Sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association, the Hallowe'en Carnival provides fun and frolic for ghosts and goblins.

Pictured at left, students are enjoying the fourth grade duck pond.

These girls are surprised at their gift from "Pick A Pocket."

Above, the judges have difficulty in selecting the best costume, since there are so many entries.

Fifth grade boys, pictured at right, enjoy shooting out the candles at their booth.

CITY Mathematics

Dear Mrs. Robinette,

Until I had spent a few days in Algebra, I didn't realize what a wonderful teacher you are, and how fortunate I am in having such a sweet, understanding teacher!

There has never been or never will be such an experienced math teacher and I certainly appreciate what you have taught me!

Always,
Betty June Haile

Dear Mrs. Robinette,

Dear Mrs. Robinett: Words can't really express my thanks and appreciation to what you have gratefully done to help me. Of all my 12 years of school I can truly say that you have meant more to me than any person or teacher. I know you have gone far out of the way to help me many times. Many times I have been down in the dumps and I would go to you for a good heart to heart talk. I want to say thank you in the nicest way I can for your kindness. May the Lord always bless you sincerely, Your Student
